

Digital Airborne Imagery License: Permits use of Product, within a legal commercial/federal business/agency entity at any location or by any number of U.S. agencies in the original medium, within the scope of a project for which the Product is procured.

Space Imaging retains all ownership rights in the Product for resale purposes to other entities. Space Imaging grants Customer a non-transferable and non-exclusive, license to use the Products as specified below or in any quotation provided to Customer ("the Permitted Use"), and for no other use. Under this license, Customer may do the following:

- a. Reformat the Product into different formats or media from those in which it is delivered for purposes of Internet posting or transfer to agencies/individuals.
- b. Make additional copies of the Product for Customer's internal archival or backup purposes.
- c. Distribute the Product, in a non-commercial basis, in a suitable format, or as part of a hard copy research report or publication.
- d. Make the Product available to its consultants, agents and subcontractors for purposes otherwise consistent with the Permitted Use and subject to the restrictions herein, and without the right to transfer, modify, copy or sublicense.
- e. Distribute Product to 3rd party sources or "non-profit agencies" as a donation to use said Product for analysis, feature extraction or manipulation. Copyright credit shall be to both the original purchaser of the data and with "Includes material © Space Imaging LLC".
- f. Modify the imagery Product, through manipulation techniques and/or the addition of other data, and make copies of the resulting bundled image product, for Customer's internal use only.
- g. Distribute derivative works. Derived data is data extracted from imagery to produce vector information (e.g., street centerlines) and/or classification, and is irreversible and uncoupled from the source imagery. Extracted data is the property of the Customer.
- h. Post a derived product, in any format necessary to facilitate electronic transfer, on an Internet site with the following credit conspicuously displayed, "Includes material © Space Imaging LLC". Such posting may in no event be used to market, sell, or resell the product(s).

12076 Grant Street
Thornton, CO 80241 USA
303.254.2000
Fax: 303.254.2215

Web: <http://www.spaceimaging.com>